Mr. Juan P. Dela Cruz

This individual may be motivated by the desire for material success. It is likely that he is also motivated by other factors not measured in this assessment. Juan will show some awareness of financial targets and may or may not strive to achieve those targets. This level of desire for material achievement indicates some chance of success in a management or sales role.

This individual's score indicates a passable level of emotional intelligence. Juan may have some innate ability for managing others successfully and/or selling ideas, concepts or products effectively. Juan could be moderately successful in a management or sales environment. It is recommended that he be given comprehensive EQ and/or sales training to improve his interpersonal skills.
